

Privacy

This page describes EdgeHub's intended data practices for the prototype/beta phase. It is not yet a final legal document - specialized U.S. counsel review of the full data map, retention schedule, and deletion workflow is required before public launch.

What we collect

Account email and preferences; bet-tracker entries you enter yourself; consent and unsubscribe events; product usage events needed to operate the service.

What we never collect

Sportsbook credentials, payment-account access, or the ability to place a wager on your behalf.

Your controls

You can export your tracker history, correct your preferences, or request account deletion from Account at any time.

v1.0 (draft - pending counsel review) - published 2026-09-16

EdgeHub provides market-intelligence information and tracking tools. It does not accept, route, or execute wagers, does not custody funds, and does not represent itself as a sportsbook or exchange. Nothing here is a guarantee of any outcome.
